HIGH SCHOOL

DEDICATION

We, the Senior class of 1963, dedicate this, the first edition of the Lance, to Southwood High School. We fully appreciate the sacrifices our friends and neighbors have made to provide this building, and we are grateful to those who planned and constructed the final product.

All things must, and do, have a beginning. From the tiniest of God's creatures to the tallest of mountains, there must be a point of origin.

On September 10, 1962, Southwood first opened its doors. The seed of tradition was planted, and from that seed there now appears the first signs of life, spirit, and dedication.

The students and faculty of 1962-63 have been privileged to witness such a beginning.

The stage has been set, the curtain pulled, and the only missing ingredient is the magic of time to complete that which has begun so well.

For every ship there must be a captain; likewise a school cannot function without the wisdom and guidance of an efficient and willing administration. For this reason The Lance would like to first of all introduce you to the people who supervise, coordinate, and of course, teach here at Southwood.

The Lance Staff would like to add a special note of thanks to these people, without whose patience and cooperation this yearbook would not have been possible.

DR. WAGGONER
Principal

The essential elements of Southwood High School are its teachers, its students, and a spiritual bond, which constantly flows back and forth from one to another and truly binds us into one close family. Through this bond we come to respect one another, to feel kindly toward all, to hope for our mutual successes, and to love one another. May Southwood High School students and faculty always look forward—to the tomorrows of life. May we always have and hold the respect and honor of all people whom we meet. May we always have a will to learn, a will to labor—to go the extra mile, and a willingness to sacrifice today, that we may have a more satisfying tomorrow.

It is my fond hope that this LANCE may be not only the first to be carried by the KNIGHTS of Southwood, but be one whose luster never tarnishes with time.

Sincerely,

Sherman D. Waggoner

The primary function of a high school is to educate. In the past it has been the custom of many annuals to overlook this fact; therefore to correct this situation The Lance proudly presents this special section. The following pictures are actual classroom scenes designed to acquaint you with the methods and equipment used at Southwood for teaching purposes.

ACADEMIC

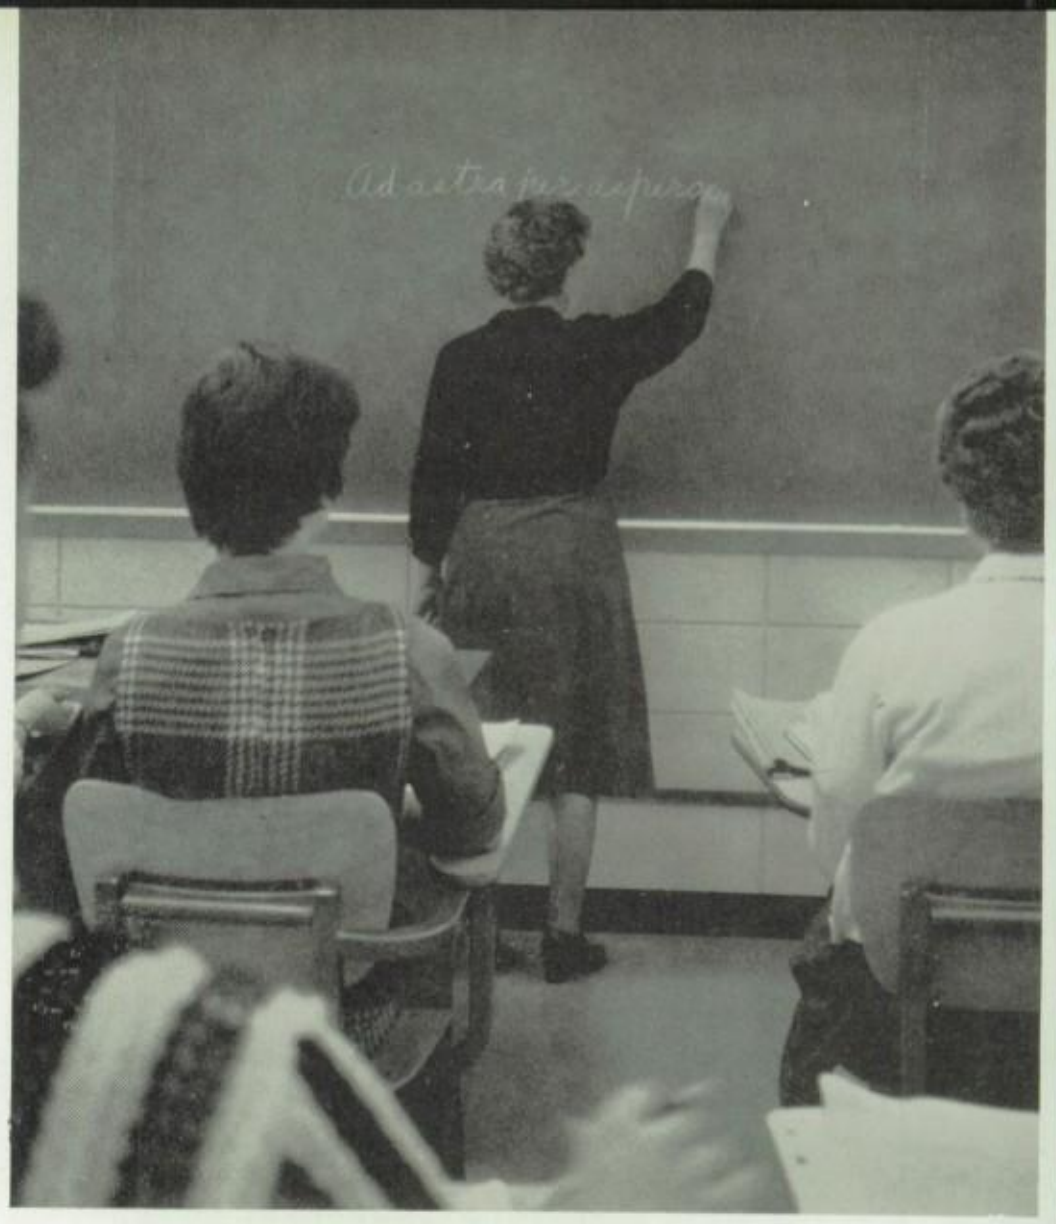
ENGLISH

We are seeking to prepare every student to be able to stand before a group and express himself, and to write a letter or manuscript of which no one would be ashamed. Then we must acquaint ourselves with some of the great literature of the past, so that we may develop standards for judging the literature of the present. Literature also teaches us what some great men have felt and thought about problems like our own.

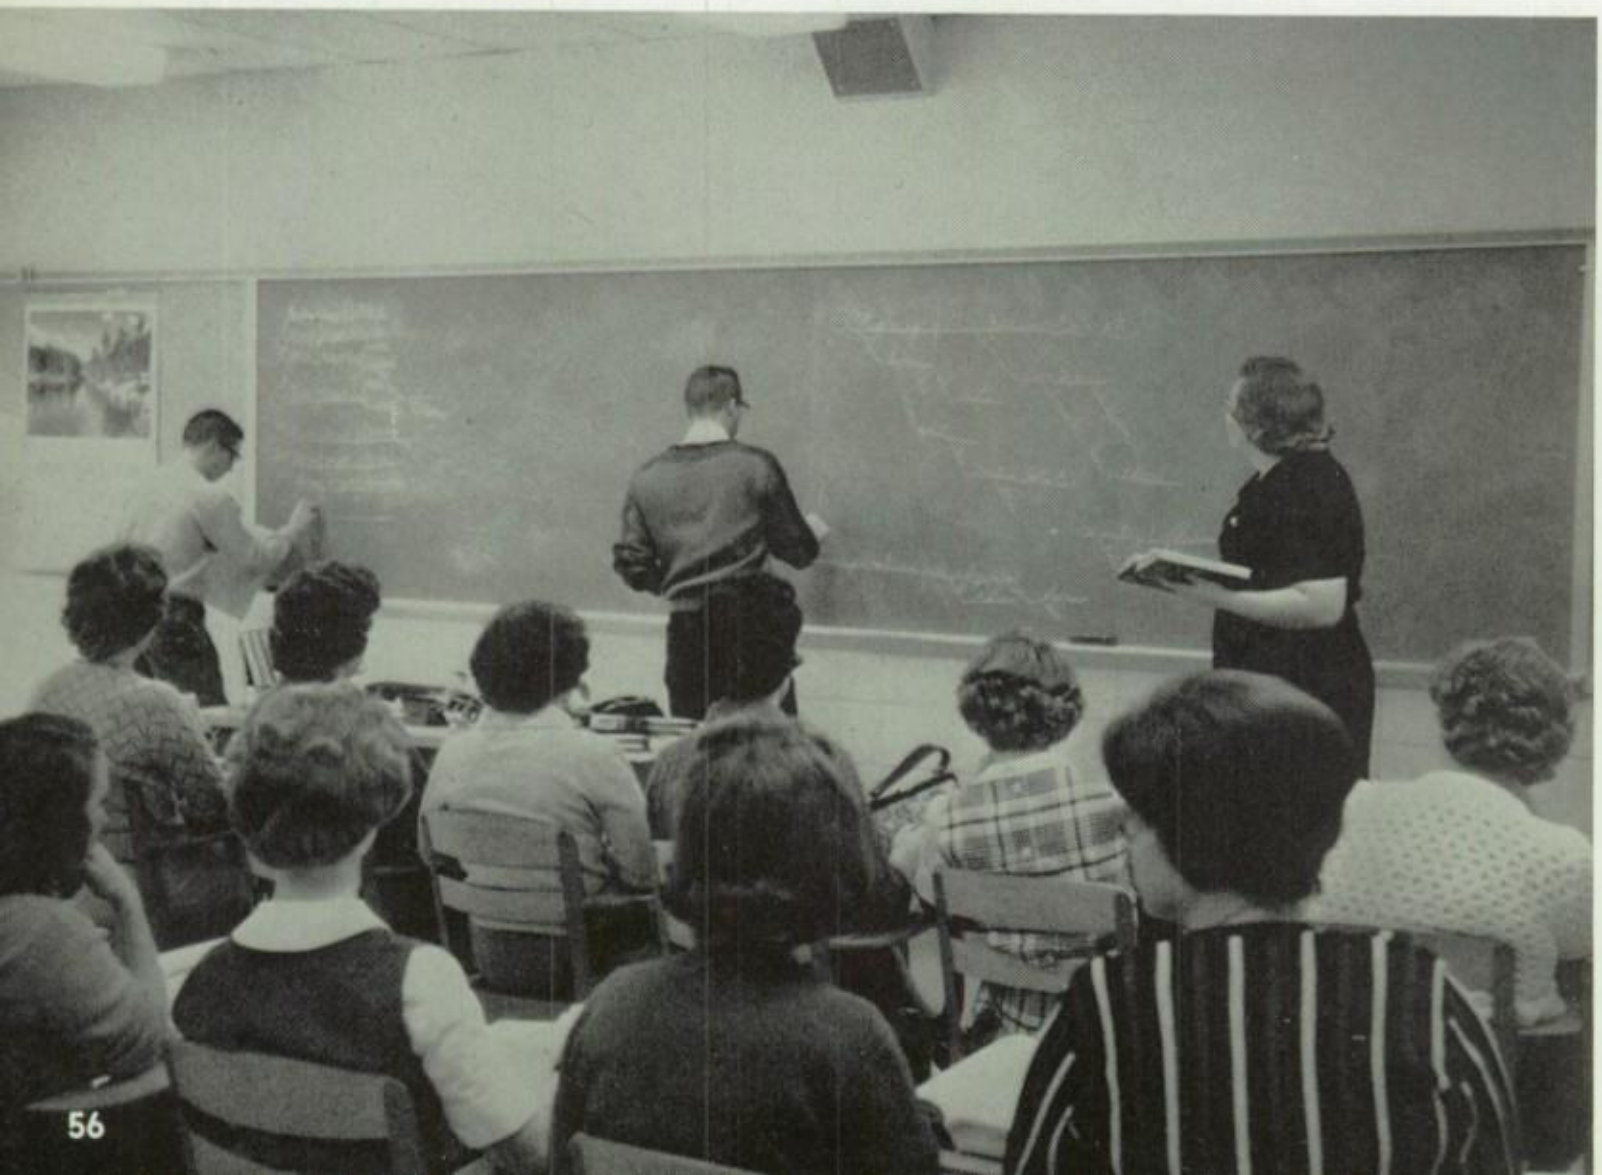
FOREIGN LANGUAGE

The three main purposes for studying any foreign language are (1) to teach a new perspective of the English language and culture, (2) to build a foundation for further study of the language, and (3) to increase international understanding.

These languages are taught by different methods. Latin uses the text books and outside reports while French and Spanish use texts and the language laboratory.



To the stars through difficulty



LANGUAGE LAB

Here, the students may hear the language spoken by a native of that country. The student, through his lab unit, may make recordings thus giving the instructor a check on his correctness in pronunciation.

READING LAB

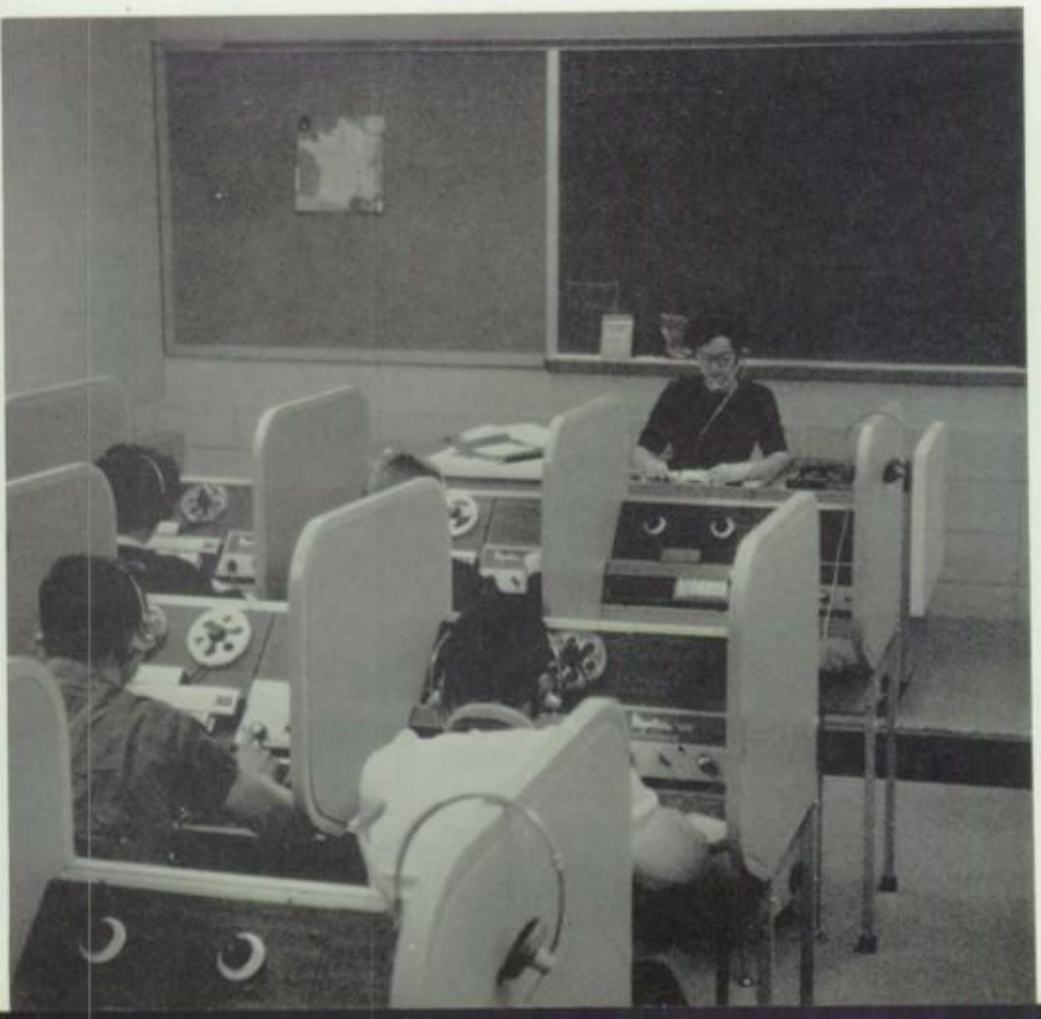
Our Development Reading program strives to provide instruction and techniques by which the average and the superior student, or reader, increases his reading effectiveness.

The Reading Laboratory is equipped with the following mechanical devices:

1. The Shadowscope which is an instrument that indicates the speed of reading and helps increase concentration.

2. Training films of reading selections specially projected to control speed, eye-span, attention, and rhythm, eliminating regressions.

3. The Tachistoscope which is a slide projector with a timing device that projects words, phrases, and sentences at certain exposure time.



LIBRARY

The library is the hub of education! Faculty members and students alike gather to find information on any topic. The library's facilities include conference rooms for committee meetings, a lounge area for leisure reading, and a viewing room for teachers who wish to view films before presenting them to their classes. Other equipment available are: filmstrips, a film strip projector, an overhead projector, a Wilson viewer for showing films in a lighted room, and records.

Besides the many books to be checked out, career pamphlets and magazines are available for use. Paper back books are also sold. Approximately thirty students assist Mrs. Beyer in the care and issuing of books. The library can serve the entire school body if it is used wisely and correctly.

SPEECH

Speech was offered as an elective for juniors and seniors. A rather thorough study and practice of parliamentary procedure was a major objective.

Another objective of the speech class was to give students experiences in applying the principles of good speech. Numerous opportunities were given for actual practice in the more common speech situations.

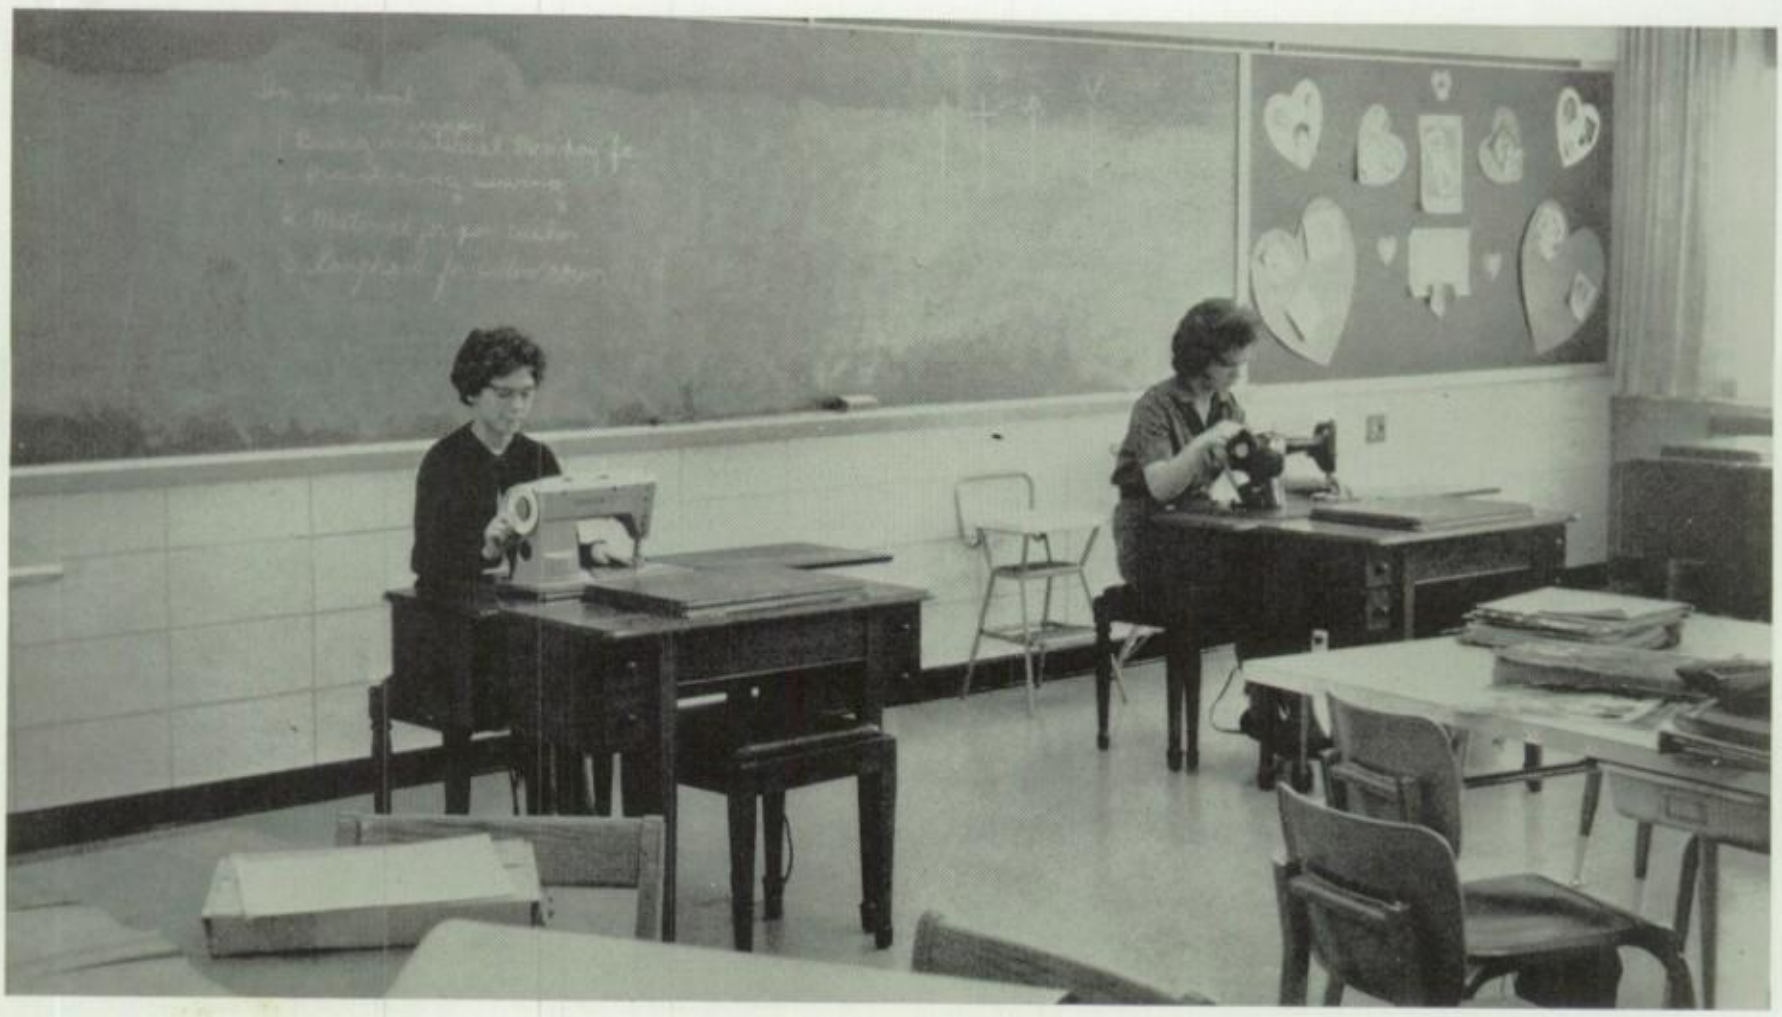
VOCATIONAL

Homemaking is an ever-changing vocation. Our curriculum includes study of the many problems encountered in today's living. With our study we endeavor to meet the changing times with a common sense attitude and open mind, fortified by practical knowledge.

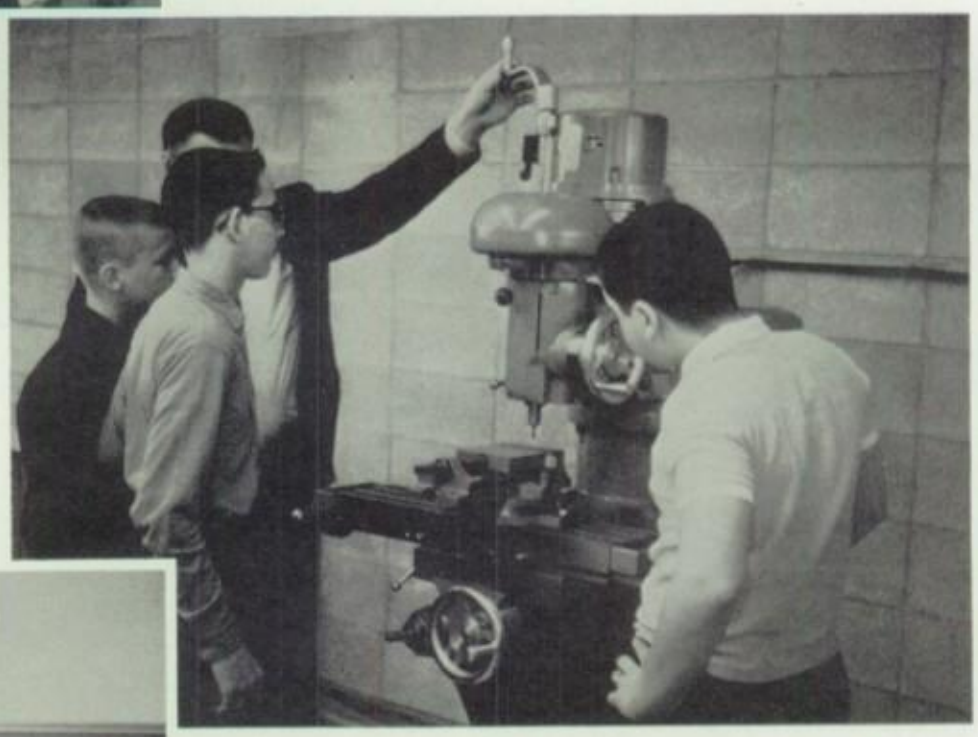
The eighth grade level in agriculture is designed to help students explore their interest so as to determine possible job opportunities. Vocational Agriculture I and II deal with abilities related to the production of crops and livestock. In Vocational Agriculture III and IV emphasis is placed on advanced subjects pertaining to agriculture. Approximately 30-40 per cent of the total instruction time is spent in work in the farm mechanics area.

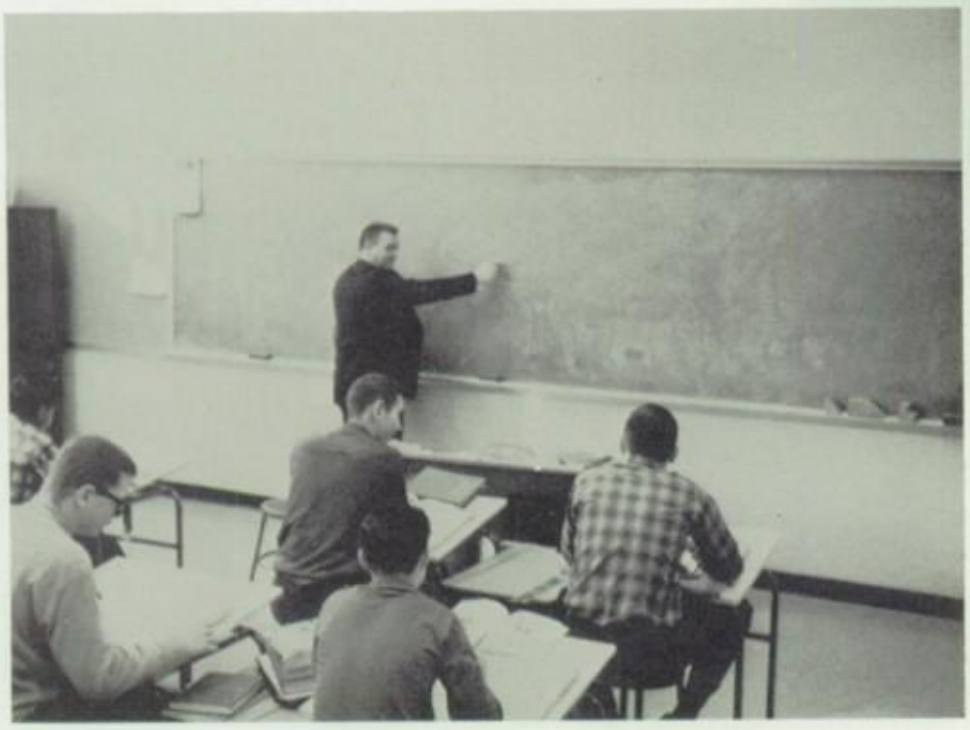
Industrial arts at Southwood offers courses which provide opportunities for students to try a variety of industrial skills, gain insight into industrial vocations, and have a chance to develope skills for these vocations. Beyond this they will be learning to judge and appreciate good craftsmanship.

HOMEMAKING



AGRICULTURE





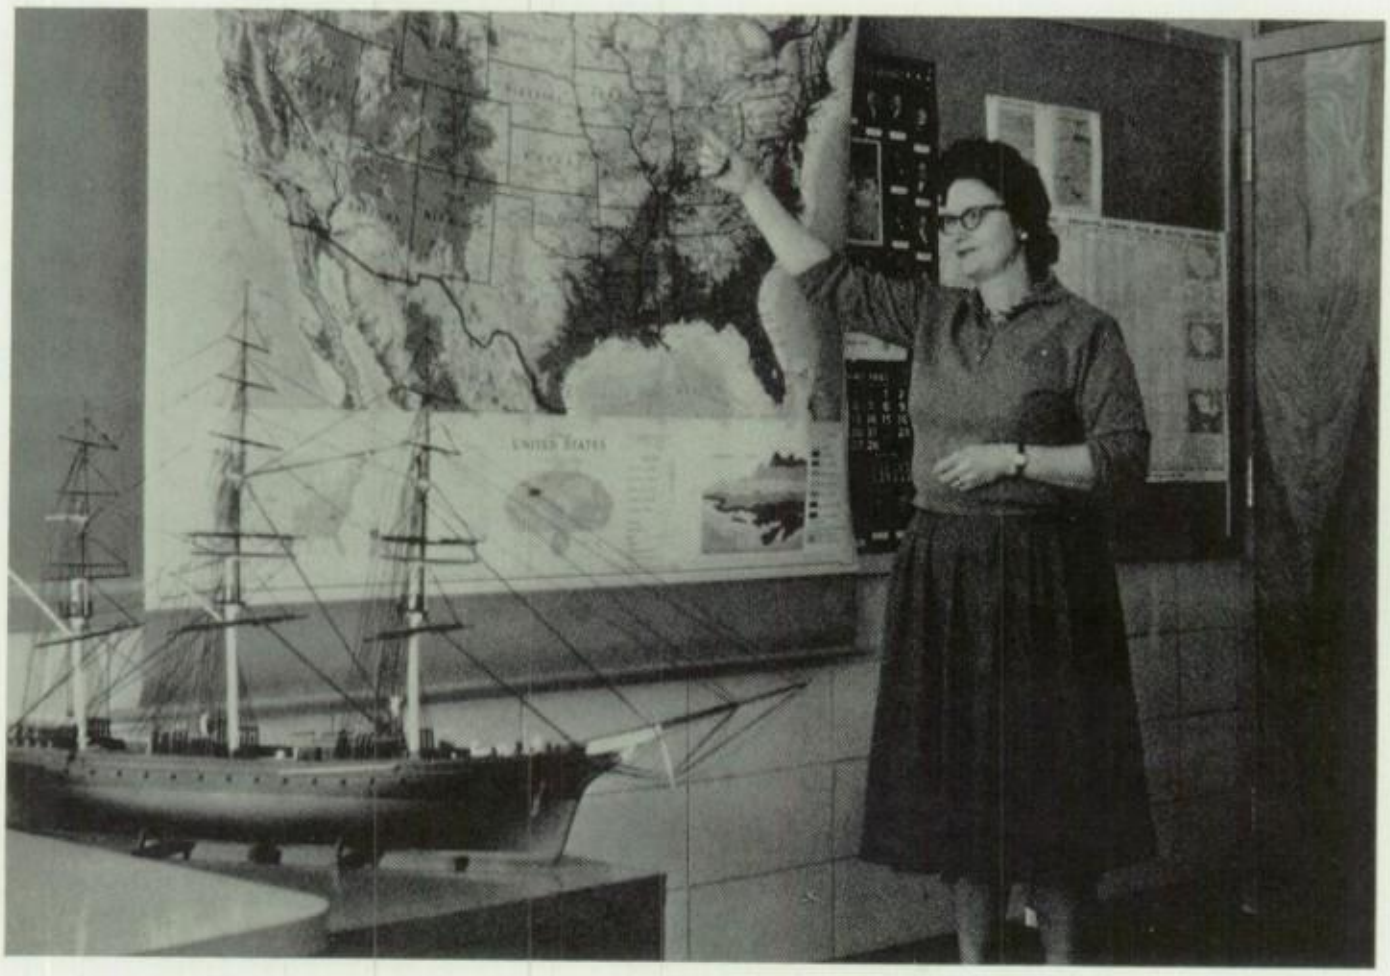
INDUSTRIAL ARTS

SOCIAL SCIENCE

The purpose for which the social sciences are taught at Southwood is to prepare the student for well-informed participation in public affairs, to improve his social adjustments, and to prepare the individual to live more intelligently.

The social sciences introduce the student to the records of mankind. The governments, religions, laws, and customs around us did not "just happen." These grew from roots in the past as the men and women of other times searched for the solutions to the problems that they faced in their age.

A knowledge of the past helps the student to understand present day social, religious, political, and economic problems facing him today. This is a must in order for the student to successfully assume his responsibility in our present nuclear age.

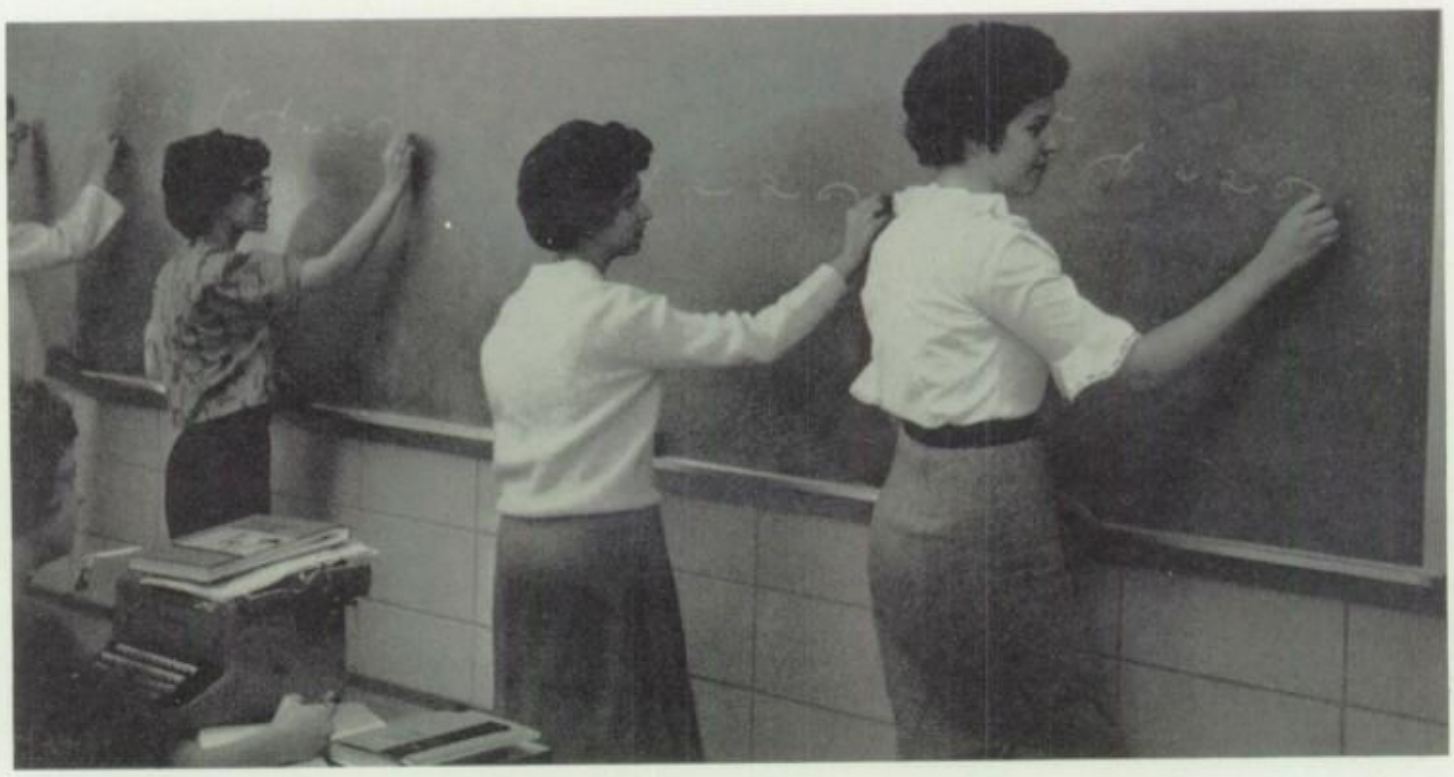


COMMERCE

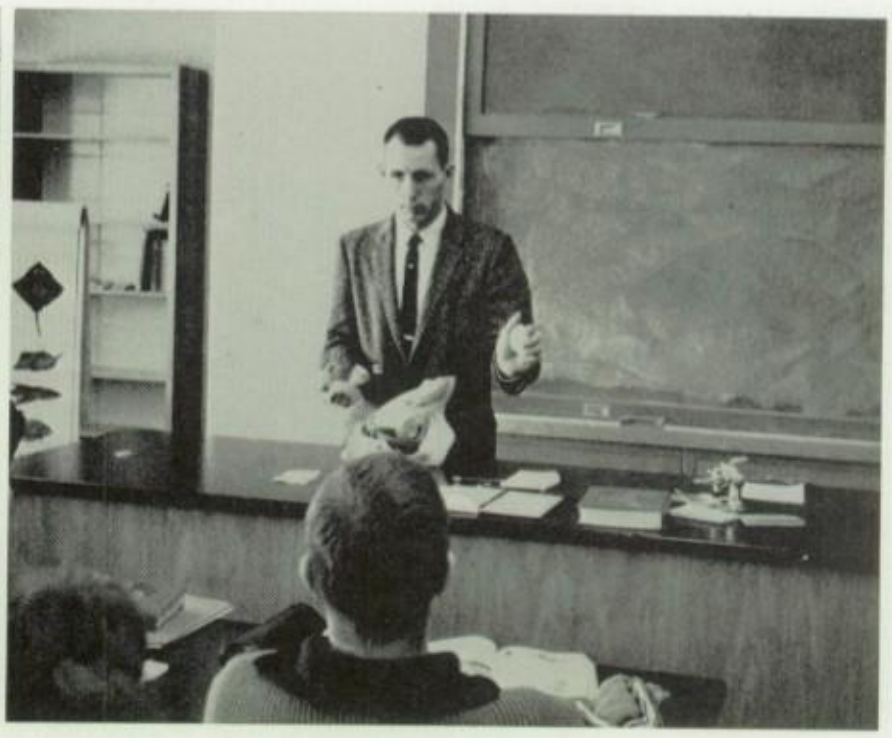
The purpose of the Business Education Department is to give students knowledge and skills which they can use in everyday situations and in their jobs.

At present the following business courses are offered at Southwood: general business, shorthand, typing, bookkeeping, and office practice.

There is a demand in the expanding business world for business men and women who have had a good basic commercial background in high school.



Dear Mr. Gates: Here we are again.



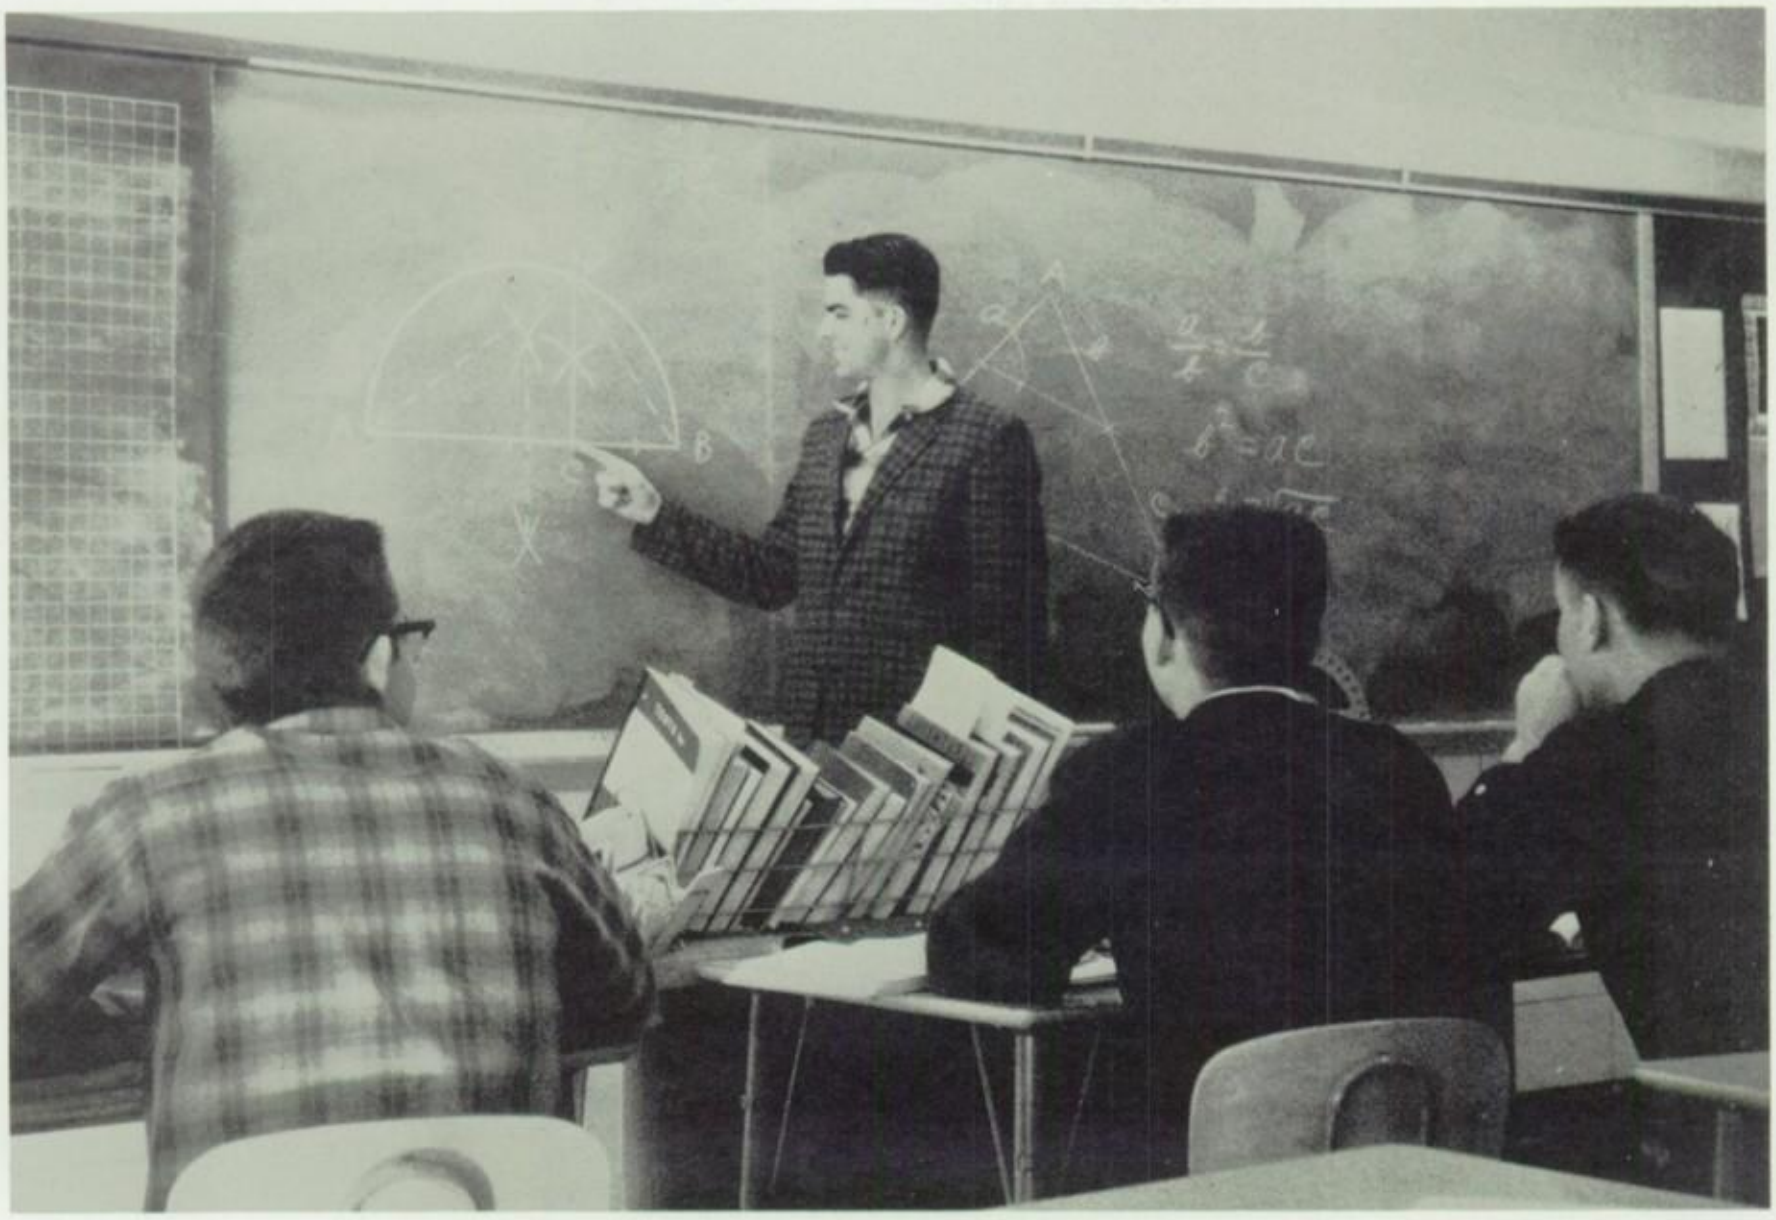
SCIENCE

The science program at Southwood consists of general science, taught in the seventh grade; biology, taught in the ninth grade; and chemistry and physics, taught in grades eleven and twelve.

Science department facilities include a greenhouse, darkroom, individual laboratory equipment, and such special items as oscilloscope, vibragraph, and centrifuge.

The Southwood science program will eventually be among the best in the state.

Instruction in science is based on the laboratory approach coordinated with class work. The science program provides necessary experiences for those students who plan to major in science in college as well as for those who need an understanding and appreciation of science for their vocational or personal enrichment.



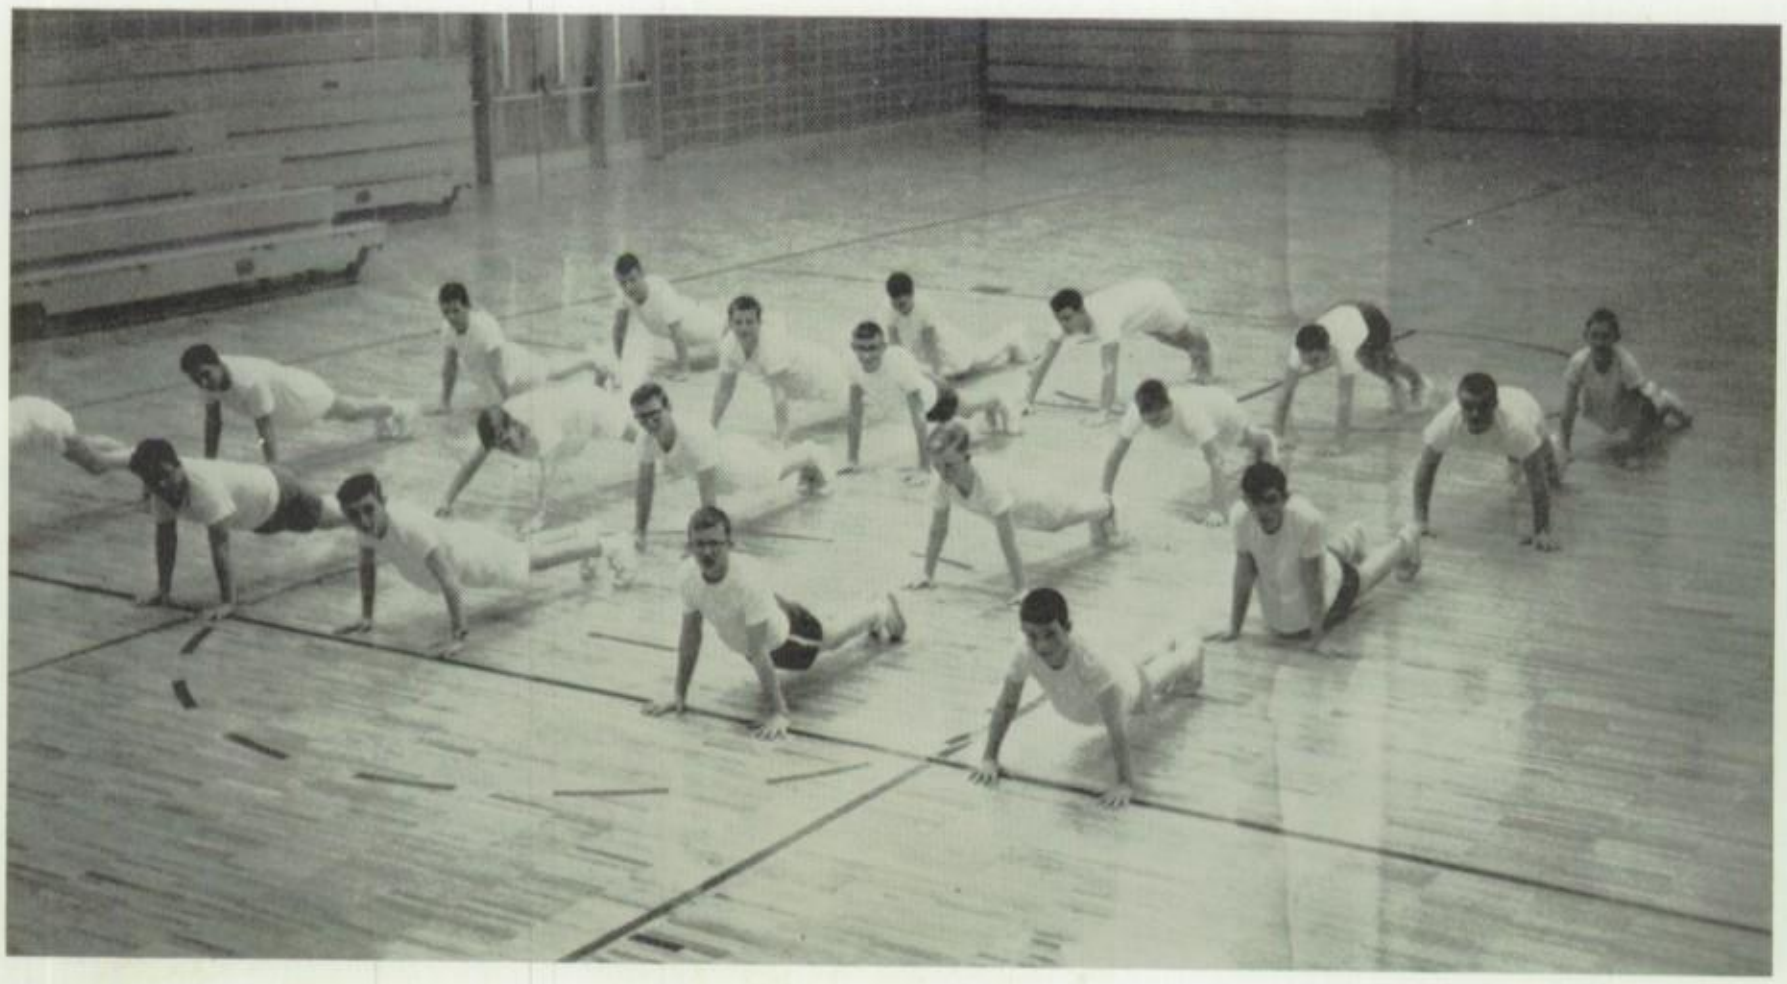
$E=MC^2$

MATH

Mathematics is the scientific study of numbers. It is the most basic of the sciences. Mathematics surrounds each of us in our own everyday life. We use math in every phase of life—from homemaking to the most complicated engineering. Math is essential to every student for its information and skills which apply to everyday life.

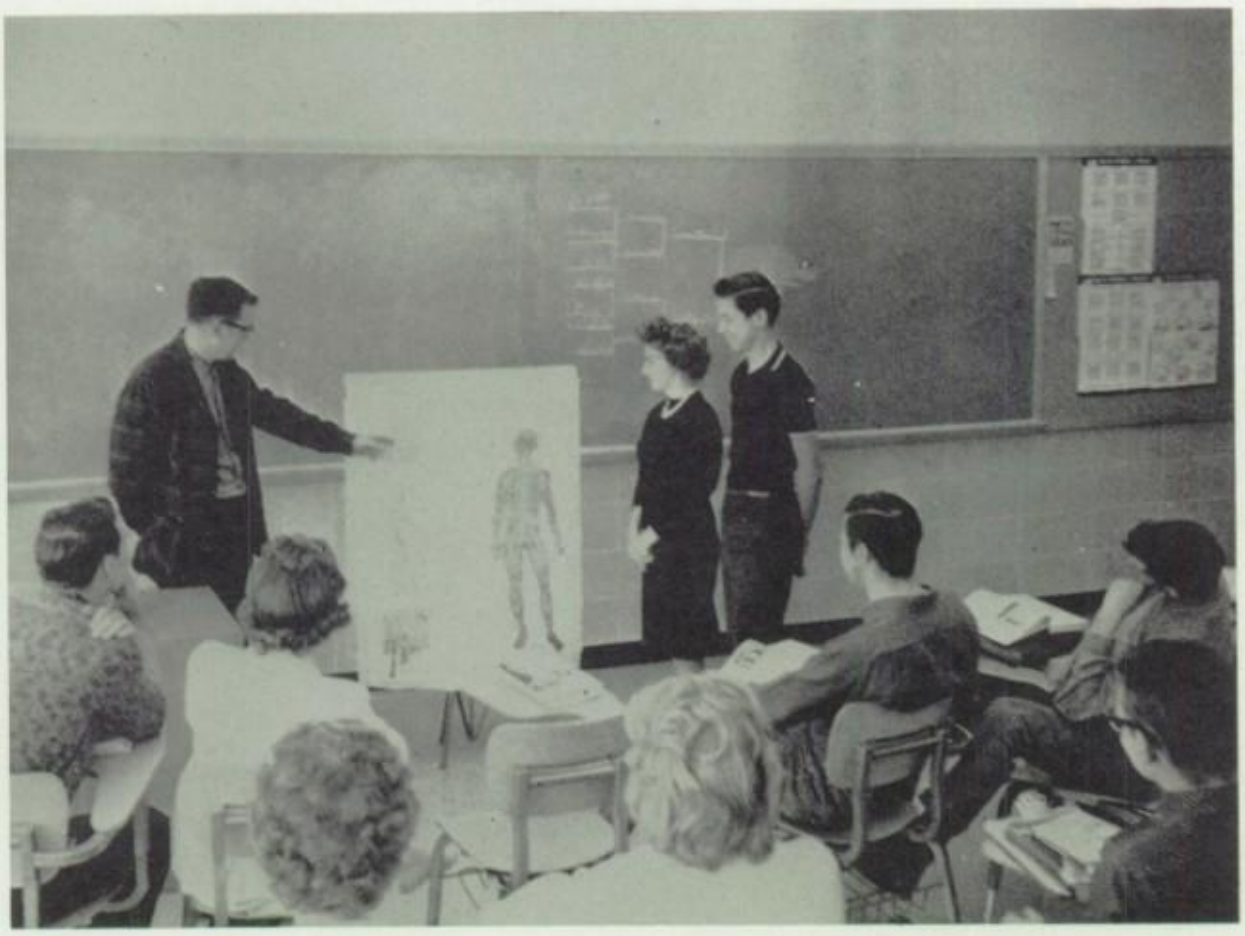
PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The physical education program provides each student with an opportunity to develop skill and understanding in a variety of sports activities that will serve him throughout life. It has unique opportunities in developing social traits and desirable character as well as defined responsibilities toward the physical development of the individual.



DRIVER'S EDUCATION

The three main goals of Driver Education are safety, a smooth flow of traffic, and enjoyable driving. Gains from driver education are: increased mobility, better job opportunities, a better chance of staying alive, a smaller danger of injury, and lower insurance costs. Audio-visual aids, charts, and working models are a help to the students in learning driving techniques and skills before attempting them.



HEALTH AND SAFETY

Health and Safety is responsible for utilizing the benefits of increased medical knowledge to improve the physical, mental, and emotional health of our young people. This subject will assist the student in gaining an intelligent understanding of the human body and mind in order to maintain good health and to achieve the highest degree of physical and mental fitness.

FINE ARTS

Fine Arts involves creative activities. In Southwood we try to provide the environment and stimulus necessary for students to express themselves through a variety of mediums. The student is allowed to work in the medium in which he is most interested. We think we have a profitable and stimulating art and music program which will be conducive in fully realizing the students' artistic abilities.

Our classes at Southwood are designed to provide a place where students of creative talent may learn to express themselves in art or music more fully. Their artistic knowledge will in the future teach them to apply these to their lives, and to be able to appreciate the value of the beauties around them.

MUSIC

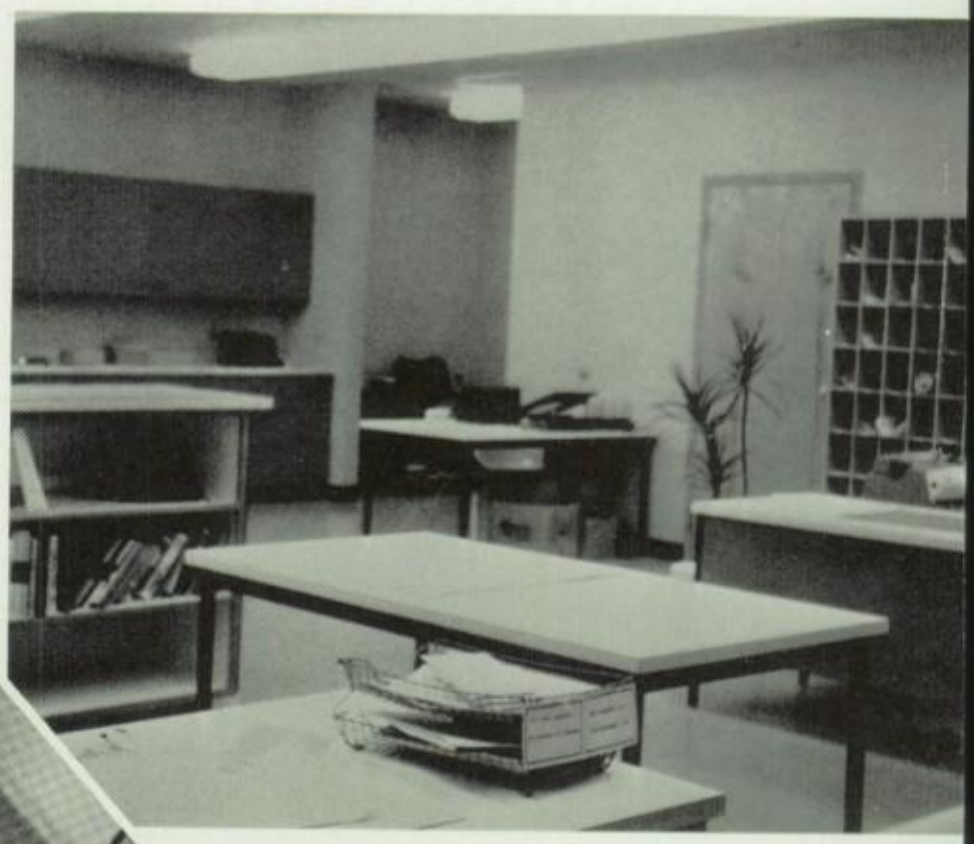
The music department at Southwood is designed to benefit all who are interested. General music classes in Junior High emphasize the fundamentals of note reading, rhythm recognition, the symphony orchestra, and music appreciation. It is important for students to acquire these fundamentals so that they may be able to participate, not only in the high school music courses that are offered, but also to be able to appreciate all types of music in his life to come.

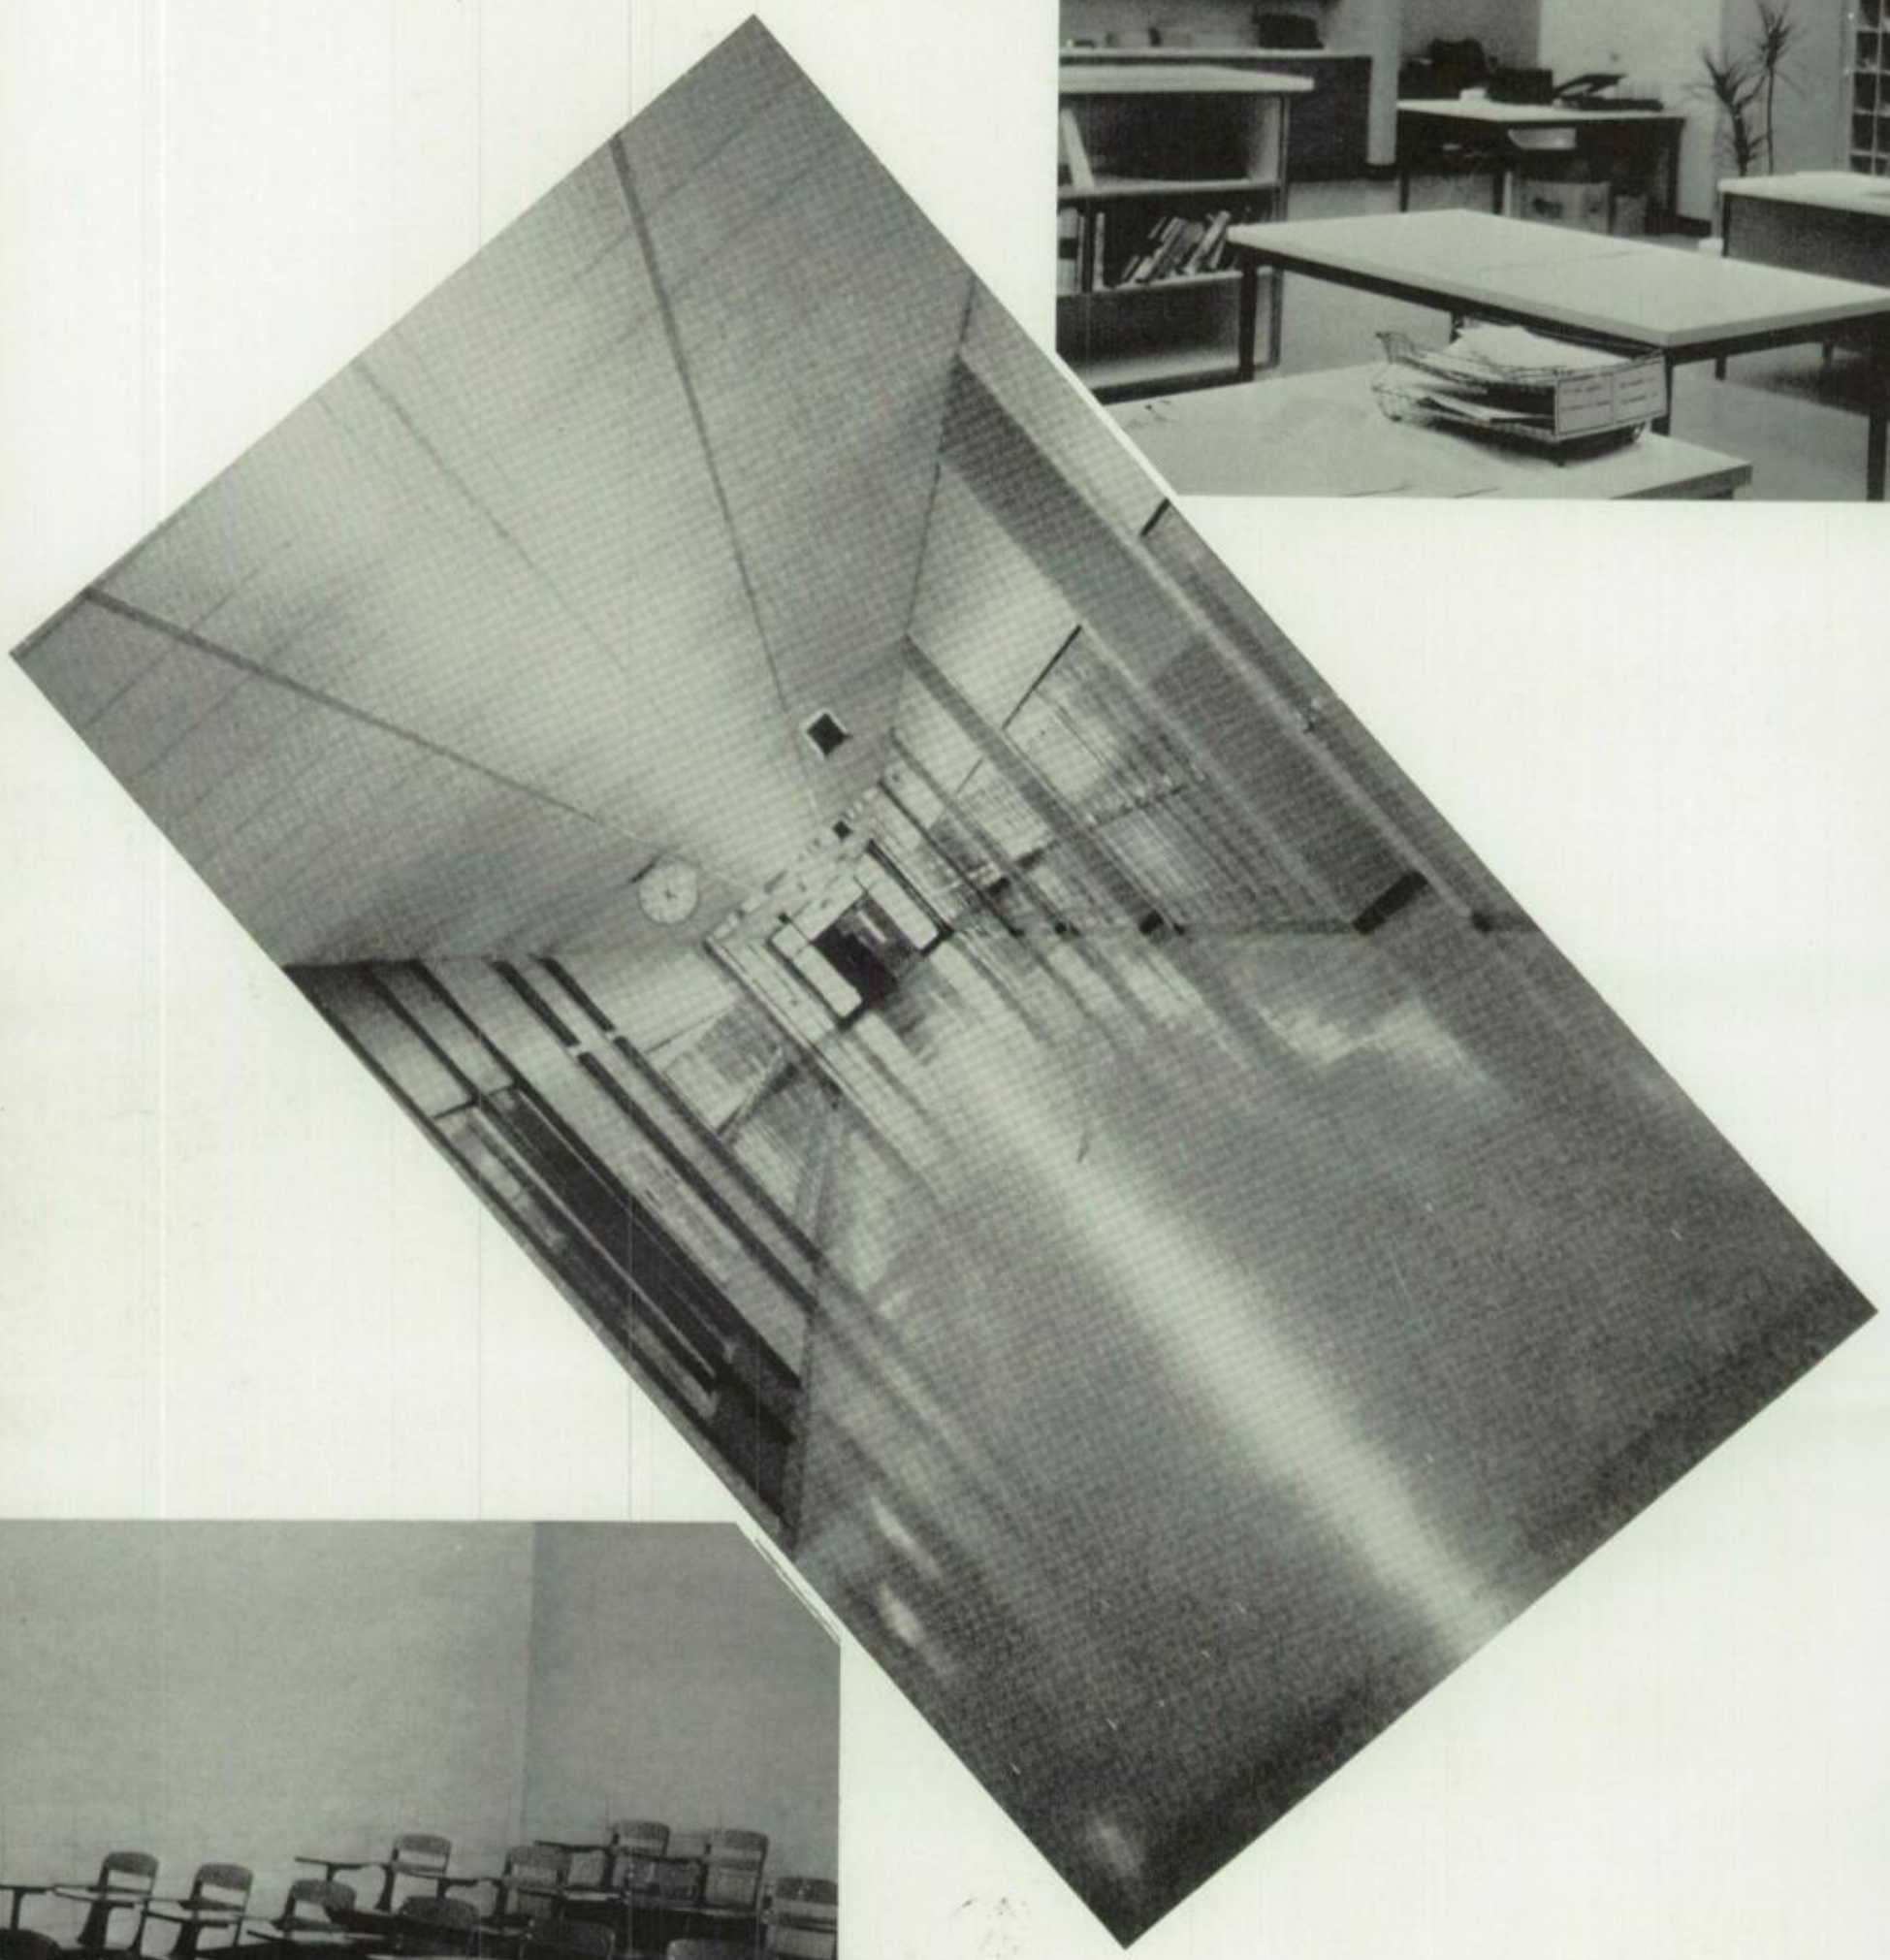
GUIDANCE

The guidance and counseling program at Southwood is fundamentally designed as a complementary, not a supplementary part of the curriculum. The guidance services are concerned with the whole individual and all his years in high school, starting with Orientation as an introduction to the guidance program in his freshman year. The service also helps him to meet his need to face realistically his personal, social, emotional, educational, and vocational problems.

Individual counseling

. . . AND THE





ECHOES REMAIN

Although study is emphasized here at Southwood, the knowledge imparted from books has its limitations. It is for this reason a school's schedule must include several extracurricular activities. During this phase of education not only is the social pattern developed, but the knowledge absorbed in the classroom is given freedom to be applied. Though the extracurricular portion of education is sometimes sharply criticized (with possible justification at times) the role it plays in developing well-rounded citizens with open and healthful minds should not be forgotten.

THE LANCE STAFF

Within these pages you find a pictorial birth certificate. This marks the beginning of Southwood High. We hope that through pictures and words we have captured the central theme of this school year. "Newness" was the keynote for '63, the modern spirit of education echoed through every hall. Still, when the fascination begins to wear and Southwood reaches maturity, the wonder of its infancy will be forever contained in this publication.

Is the annual a success? As I prepare this article for copy I have no idea. The answer will come when the shipment arrives and the yearbooks are distributed, when you, the subscriber, offer your opinion . . . then we will know.

Dear friends,

My year in the United States has been a wonderful experience, and when you read this yearbook my year will be gone, but I shall never forget it.

I will always remember the experiences I have had here. I have gained much understanding about the United States and I hope I have helped you understand more about Peru.

I would like to thank my teachers for their patience and understanding. I have learned very much from them.

Best of luck in the future

Your Peruvian friend,
Lucy Beltran

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The purpose of the Southwood Chapter of the National Honor Society is to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to encourage the development of character in students of Southwood High School.

Membership in the National Honor Society is not a goal in itself, but rather it is a result of constant striving toward total development as a productive citizen in the home, school, and community.

Members of the Southwood Chapter were elected by the faculty council on the basis of a cumulative scholastic record of 3.0 for seniors and 3.2 for juniors. Service, leadership, and character were also considered in the final selection of members.

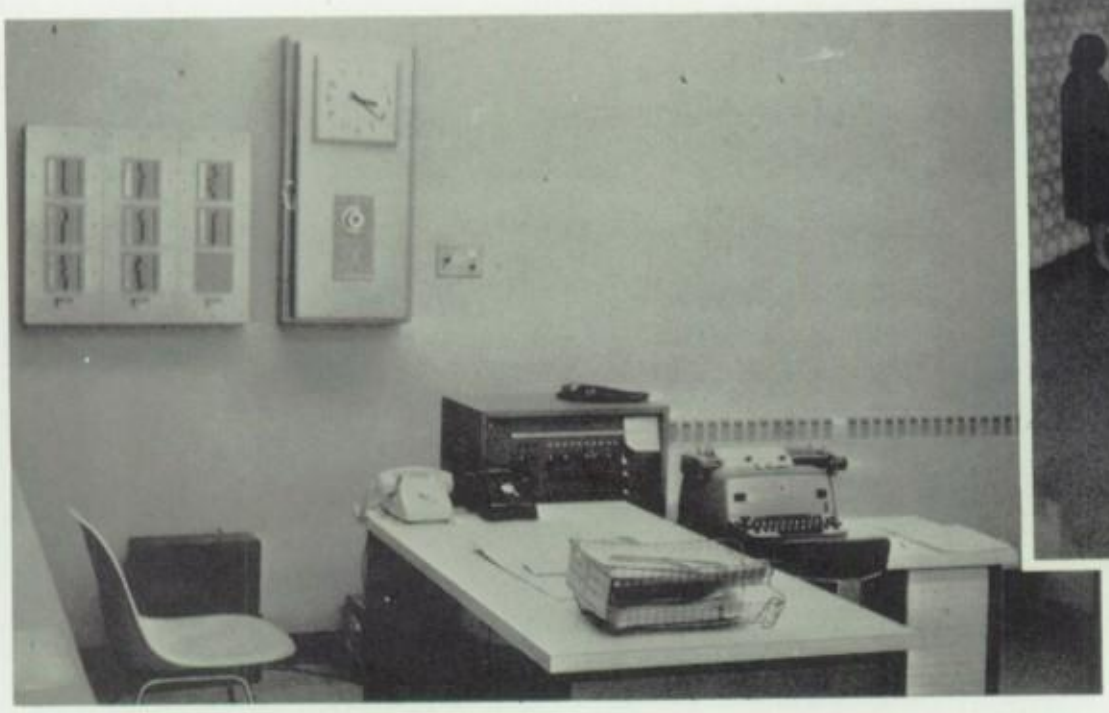
Hello there, sports fans!



Roberta, where are you?

Hey, where's that dime?

Our group had 21% fewer cavities.

Paralleled with the development of the mind is the development of a sound and healthy body. Southwood, because of its size is able to offer a better and more varied assortment of sports. This of course allows more students to participate in athletic activities which otherwise would not be available to him. Most important, the spirit of competition is instilled in each participant giving him a preview of life in a nation based upon the free enterprise system and competitive markets.

A NOTE OF THANKS . . .

Much time and labor has been invested in this publication. Many people were involved in this project and each one has done his job exceptionally well. The willingness and dedication which the staff members have displayed in composing The 1963 Lance, reflect the fine attitude of virtually everyone here at Southwood High.

We especially thank Mrs. Mable Snyder, Mr. Ira McClurg and Mr. Delbert Beyer for their guidance and counsel concerning the yearbook.

A distinctive feature of this publication is the fine art work done by Becky Emrick and Jerry Patton. Their skillful and unique efforts certainly have added much to make this a successful record of Southwood's first year.
